

PLAN TO SOLVE RAIL PROBLEM IS SUGGESTED

Reorganize Industry, Make Labor, Capital and Public Directors, Says Judge Anderson

Rail Transportation in Air Liner California Paralyzed by Strike; Men Defy Orders of Union Officials

Los Angeles, Aug. 27.—An order to all members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen who are on strike in southern California to return to work which was received tonight from W. G. Lee, president of the brotherhood, contained the warning that members who failed to obey the order would be suspended.

Washington, Aug. 27.—Railroad reorganization under the plan combining the most desirable factors of both government and private ownership and operation was offered today as a solution of the railroad problem by Judge George W. Anderson, of the United States district court, Boston, a former member of the interstate commerce commission, who appeared before the house interstate commerce committee.

Form Federal Company

Formation of a federal railroad company, with broad powers including eminent domain to take over existing transportation facilities, so as to provide "a single national highway and carrier system" was advocated by Judge Anderson.

Labor would, by the proposals of the witness, have a new status and responsibility, including profit sharing, but strikes would be illegal. Along with capital and the public, labor would have equal representation on the board of directors selected to manage the roads.

Service at Cost.

Rates would be initiated on the service-at-cost principle by the federal company, subject to approval of the interstate commerce commission; states would deal with purely local questions, such as commutation rates, improvements and safety precautions.

Present owners of the carriers, by his plan, would be protected in that all valid and properly outstanding bonds would be assumed by the federal company, and guaranteed by the government, and stockholders in regular dividend paying companies would be permitted to exchange their holdings. Stockholders in the new company, Judge Anderson proposed, would have an incentive for efficiency economy and progress by authorizing a dividend in excess of the standard one and pro-rate issues of new stock at par.

Strike Spreads.

San Francisco, Aug. 27.—Although both government and railroad brotherhood officials were trying to prevent its spread, a strike of yard and switchmen and allied crafts was paralyzing steam rail transportation in southern and central California tonight. The men, who went on strike as individuals and without a formally stated reason, defied definite orders of their union officials to return.

Railroad officials said it was the worst strike in the history of the state. Throughout the day a scant half dozen or more trains moved from here for southern and eastern points and but one transcontinental train of the Southern Pacific company departed.

San Francisco Strike Wearing Itself Out

(By United Press)

San Francisco, Aug. 28.—Indications today were that the spontaneous railway strike that burst out in the San Francisco region yesterday was wearing itself out and that union leaders will regain control of the situation before nightfall. Traffic in southern California around Los Angeles is still tied up. However, train service was resumed along the lines running in and out of Oakland last night, following a meeting of trainmen who voted to return to work. At a similar meeting in San Francisco no decision was reached, and the meeting was resumed today.

Business Men In- different to Rad- ical Propaganda

(By United Press)

New York, Aug. 28.—Lewis E. Pierson, head of the Irving National bank, and director of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, following a trip throughout the west to investigate industrial conditions, today gave a review to the United Press in which his impressions were summed up as follows: "Radicals are openly advocating revolutions and business men seem indifferent or ignorant of the fact. No real effort is being made to aim at bolshevik propaganda, which is apparently shrewdly conducting a financial campaign aiming at the overthrow of the government. A crisis is at hand which calls for action."

Capital and Labor Should Confer at Once

(By United Press)

Washington, Aug. 28.—An immediate conference of capital and labor is necessary to solve the economic situation, according to Franklin Lane, secretary of the interior in a statement here today.

"Events seriously threatening the welfare of the country are drawing to a climax," and he urges Wilson to take immediate action without waiting for congress to act. Lane said: "Such a conference should be called and called at once. Now is the time and there should be no delay." Personally he believed that President Wilson should not await action by congress but should take action and summon those holding responsibility.

Col. House Denies Break With Wilson

(By United Press)

London, Aug. 28.—With regard to a report that a break had occurred in his relationship with President Wilson, Col. House today authorized the United Press to quote his answer as follows: "So far as I know there is no truth in the report. If there has been any change in the relationship between President Wilson and myself, I don't know of it." It was learned Col. House declined to go to Paris to sign the Austrian treaty but he said he was certain that he would be free to go when the time came, not because he did not want to.

Ammons of Colorado, said in testifying before the senate agricultural committee today. Ammons said that producers were suffering as a result however.

New Yorkers Carrying Home Low-Priced Army Food

Old "H. C. L." is still very much alive but he got a good wallop recently in New York, when surplus army rations were sold in the fifty-eight public school buildings. Each school house looked like a corner grocery store on bargain day. Some buyers brought carts, some baby carriages and some even went in automobiles, but Mr. and Mrs. New York for the most part carried home their purchases.

Negro Massacre of White Plotted

Blacks Planned Chicago Uprising on July 4, State's Attorney
Charges

Chicago, Aug. 27.—Indictments charging 12 negroes and one white man with race riot crimes were returned in the criminal court today by the August grand jury. Among the negroes indicted were Deputy Sheriffs Scott Brown and Henry Harris, charged with assault to commit murder.

State's Attorney Hoyne caused the arrest of Patrolman Edward Mitchell. Basis for the arrest was given in a confession of "Cash" Harris, negro owner of a south side gambling place known as the Pioneer club.

Negro Massacre Planned

Harris told of gathering a fund to be used in "dissuading" police from arresting negroes guilty of rioting. He swore that Patrolman Mitchell, assigned to the riot zone and working in plain clothes, had accepted $800.

According to his own confession Harris was not only a leader in negro rioting, but actually laid plans for a general negro uprising July 4.

According to the arrangements of himself and his lieutenants the white residential section of the south side was to be invaded. Cash and his gang planned on a general massacre of whites.

Raiders Find Arsenals

The 40 raids conducted by detectives from the state's attorney's office produced evidence substantiating the Harris confession.

Weapons of all sorts and boxes of ammunition were found in many of the establishments and homes mentioned in the Harris statement.

A good sized arsenal, smuggled into the negro district by Pullman porters, the state's attorney says, was to have been distributed when the time for the massacre arrived.

Federation Labor Council in Session, Situation Delicate

BY FRED S. FERGUSON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Aug. 28.—Holding in its hands the delicate balance of economies and the industrial future of the country the executive council of the American Federation of Labor met in another session here today. Among the leaders drawn here by threatened disputes or attracted by the importance of the council, the belief was expressed that the president of the various unions affiliated with the A. F. of L. might be summoned before decisive action is taken. Immediate action is expected on the rail and steel situation.

The threat of a strike of the union employees of the United States Steel corporation and the demand of the railway shopmen will be given first consideration by the council. The stand of President Wilson against further wage increase in reply to the demand of the shopmen is a tremendous factor in the situation. The leaders of the shopmen are confident their men are ready to strike for the increase demanded. They are not sure that public sentiment will approve of the strike in view of the president's appeal.

Expects to be Absent from Washington About Twenty-Five Days

(By United Press)

Washington, August 28.—President Wilson will start his tour of the country next Wednesday, September 3, it was announced at the White House today. His first stop will be at Columbus, Ohio. The first stop after Columbus will be Indianapolis.

Those accompanying him will be Mrs. Wilson, Admiral Greyson, the President's personal physician, Sec. Tumulty, Gilbert Close, the President's stenographer and other officials. A large force of secret service men also accompany him.

Washington, Aug. 28.—Secretary Tumulty said the speech at Columbus would be at night and later speeches will be both afternoon and night. Present plans also call for speeches at St. Louis, and Kansas City. The remainder of the plans will be announced later.

The early beginning of the tour also means that he cannot be in New York to greet General Pershing when he lands Sept. 8 or 9. At the White House it was said that arrangements for the trip are as yet incomplete. It is uncertain when the president would arrive at Columbus.

Although the president's first speech will be in a territory which is reported here as friends to the League, he desires that his stops may be in places where the opposition predominates wherever possible. Despite the eagerness to make as many speeches as possible he has been advised that his trip should last three weeks at the most. It is possible, it was said today, that he will be gone from Washington only twenty-five days.

Gen. Pershing to be Made Full General

Washington, Aug. 28.—The House today passed the bill authorizing the permanent rank of general for John J. Pershing. The honor probably will be conferred on him at a joint session of congress in Pershing's honor.

Continuous sniping, aerial bombing and machine gun firing were reported on the Silesia and Polish borders.

All That Affected Her.
That the Empress Eugenie is not prone to brood sentimentally over the past is evidenced by an incident that occurred some years ago. She visited Windsor castle, a palace in which in the golden days of the empire she was received as an honored guest. Those who accompanied her on this second visit hovered near her, fearing that she would be overcome with the contrast between the past and the present, especially when she viewed the apartments fitted up for her use and which had not been changed. But it was merely her artistic sense that was offended. The hangings of the huge bed were of imperial purple with the green of Napoleon, and the ex-empress remarked disgustedly, "Toujours ces affreux rideaux!" "Always those frightful curtains."

No Woman Passenger Pilots.
In England women will not be given permission to serve as pilots on passenger airplanes. An official of the air ministry gave the reason for this decision to a writer on the London Sketch as "physical disability as well as nerves," declaring that women's nerves are much more likely to give way than men's.
"I think there are no women in this country capable of passing the air ministry's test. If one does succeed, however, she will be permitted to fly her own private machine, but whether she will be allowed to take a friend with her is a point that remains to be decided."
"In any case women will be barred as pilots of passenger-carrying machines."

A Senator's Lunch.
Being addressed by a smirking head waiter as "Senator," means nothing to the gay life of Senator McCumber of North Dakota.
Instead of dining at the senate restaurant, where senatorial dignity and flitting white-apron garbed waiters predominate, when night sessions prevent him from going home, the senator repairs to a nearby cafeteria, collects tray, napkin, knife, fork, spoon and other implements of table warfare, nestles his liver and bacon and other seasonal delicacies on the tray, walks over to a table and lays out his spread.

ADAPTED TO SHOPPER'S NEED

Strong Bag That Will Hold a Variety of Purchases, to Be Constructed of Remnants.

Nowadays it is absolutely necessary to take a strong and roomy bag when doing the daily shopping, and our sketch shows a very handy type of bag for this purpose.

It can be carried out with a remnant of thin stair carpet or any other strong material, and can be made in any size to suit different requirements. The diagram on the right of the illustration roughly gives the shape of the piece of material that will be required; it is folded at the point marked by the dotted line, and sewn together at the sides. The opening of the bag is bound with braid, and just below this a number of eyelets are let in, and through these eyelets a piece of strong blind-cord is threaded, by which the opening may be drawn together, and also by which the bag may be carried.

Sewn on in front of the bag and bound at the edge with tape is a small linen pocket, into which bills may be slipped.

Bernstihl-Jensen

A pretty and simple wedding was solemnized at the First Methodist church Wednesday evening when Miss Gladys P. Bernstihl and Carl S. Jensen were married. Rev. E. A. Cooke officiating.

The bride, who was a nurse at Northwestern hospital the past year, is a charming young lady. The bridegroom is a promising young business man of Omaha, Neb.

The bride's gown was of white georgette over white satin. She wore a tulle veil and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses and sweet peas. The bridesmaid, Miss Grace E. Myrick, wore pink satin and carried pink roses. The best man was Gordon Myrick.

The church was beautifully decorated with golden glow and fernery. Dr. A. K. Cohen sang "Oh, Promise Me" and Miss Gladys Nitterauer played Mendelssohn's wedding march.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clarke, after which the happy couple left amid a shower of rice and old shoes for a wedding trip to Omaha, where they will make their future home.

SMALL GIRL NOT FORGOTTEN

Frocks for Little Maid's Adornment Are More Than Usually Charming and Practical.

Frocks for the small girl are both quaint and practical. The gingham are attractively combined with plain one-tone material, or have collars, cuffs and chemisettes of sheer white materials. Plain pink, blue, green, yellow or lavender chambrays are also modish and becoming by collar and cuff sets of white organdie, dimity, batiste or linen lawn.

One Chicago house which makes a specialty of children's clothes shows numbers of quality charming frocks made from imported dimities, chambrays and swisses.

Two of the models in an exhibit were made of chambray, one being in a clear apple-green tone. There is a plain short-waisted bodice belted with a two-inch band piped with black. The belt is embroidered with colored posies and green leaves. The sleeves and neck are piped with black. Another frock is of pale-pink chambray, with the sheers of scalloped white collars and cuffs. The frock also has a short-waisted bodice and a very full skirt is attached to the plain little bodice, the joining line being defined by a piping of color. Embroidered posies, uneven in height, rise from the piping and embroidered lines to about one-third the bodice length. The skirt is also trimmed with embroidered lines.

MEET AND TREAT AT OUR FOUNTAIN

STRAIGHT LINES HOLD SWAY

Good Thing to Remember Now That It is About Time to Plan for Fall Things.

Interest in summer suits is naturally waning somewhat at the present time, with fall so near at hand, and the woman who is planning a fall suit must bear in mind the fact that regardless of dress silhouette, straight lines hold sway in suits. No matter what material is used or what trimming embellishes it, the smart suit will have a straight, semi-fitted coat, thirty to forty-five inches in length, with narrow shoulders and long, tight sleeves. Suit skirts are shorter than those shown with spring models, and while by no means full they are a trifle wider. Soft velours are very popular and a great deal of fur trimming will be used. This fur trimming is usually only in the form of generous sized collars and revers and sometimes cuffs. Trimmed skirts or the elaborate fur peplums used on suit coats last season are not in evidence so far. Embroidery and fanciful braidings appear on many smart suits.

For first fall wear strictly tailored models of cheviot and smart wool mixtures are being brought out.

HAPPY NATIVES OF SARAWAK

Under Wise Government, People Live Easy Lives in Their Gloriously Fertile Country.

The tribe of Kayans, inhabiting the head waters of the Barun and Rejang rivers of Sarawak, have lived for unknown generations almost isolated in the interior of the island of Borneo. There are many reasons for believing them to be originally of Caucasian origin. Many of them have very light skin, and they probably reached Borneo by way of the Malay peninsula from lower Burma. Rigid discipline is characteristic of the domestic ménage, resulting in good manners and recognition of authority.

For a good many years Sarawak was under the independent government of a white rajah, Sir Charles Brooke, who controlled his mingled subjects with unusual wisdom and sympathy. Among other far-sighted edicts he instituted stringent game laws, so that the island is one of the best protected parts of the world in this respect. Birds, beasts and butterflies are protected, not more than two specimens of any one species being allowed to the collector. In this way the very beautiful and rare trees and insects of the country are being maintained for the enjoyment of future generations.

Another wise move of the rajah was to confine the native costume—what there is of it—in place of introducing the unsuitable, ugly and artificial modern clothing of Europeans. This, as Stevenson points out, has usually exactly the opposite effect from that intended by well-meaning missionaries, and the happy natives of Sarawak are very well off as they are.

GOOD WORK WITH CAMERA

Explorers in Northwestern Canada Have Photographic Studies of Wilderness Wild Life.

After a three years' hunt with the camera in the almost unknown Laird river district in northwestern Canada, H. A. Stewart and John Sonnekson have come back to civilization by way of Peace river, Alberta, bringing several thousand photographic studies of the manners and customs of the wild life of those remote woods and streams. The explorers, for they well deserve the name, worked into the wilderness by way of Hudson's Hope and the forks of the Findlay and Parsnip rivers as far as Fort Graham. Their negatives illustrate the habits of the ptarmigan, moose, beaver, Canadian wild geese and other animals and birds that have seldom been observed with anything like thoroughness by means of the camera. The travelers had devices of various sorts whereby their subjects were enticed to spots upon which the hidden lenses were focused; and upon reaching these spots an ambushed camera man "snapped" them by twitching a long cord attached to the lens shutter. A single negative of some specially shy animal was often the only fruit of many hours of patient waiting. Sometimes for days the explorers would watch a single spot through their field glasses awaiting the favorable moment to "shoot." But it was all worth it.

HISTORIC PLACES ABOUT WASHINGTON

MANY RESIDENTS OF CAPITAL CITY HAVE NEGLECTED TO VISIT THEM.

BLADENSBURG IS CLOSE BY

Scene of Militia's Defeat by Invading British and Famous Dueling Ground—Fort Stevens, Braddock's Stone and Arlington Are Interesting.

By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington. — Some residents of Washington do not know Washington or its environs. Scores of temporary residents here also do not know Washington and its environs. It is left for the casual visitor, the sight-seer, to learn of this town and all that it and its neighborhood hold of historic interest.

What is it that gets into the legislators, newspaper correspondents and others who come here for several years' stay which makes them put off visiting the places which should be of deep interest to all Americans? It is easy enough to answer. Every man who comes here of course has made up his mind in advance that he will visit all the places which events have made interesting, but he puts off from day to day and from day to day, and finally when he is called away from this city to other duties he usually puts the last week into one of quick sightseeing.

It is a safe wager that there are many senators and representatives now sitting under the dome of the capitol who never have visited Mount Vernon, the residence and the place of burial of George Washington. There is one newspaper correspondent of whom I know, and shame keeps me from giving his name, who was in Washington for seven years before he took the trail of natural American reverence to the tomb of the "First in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen."

Washington has hundreds of visitors at all seasons, people who have come here to see the places of interest, and who in advance have prepared lists of the things which they feel that they must see. These visitors do the thing as thoroughly as it can be done within the time which they allot for their stay. There are men and women, and even children, living in distant parts of the country who know more about Washington than do some of its residents, temporary and permanent.

Bladensburg Is Historic.

Close to the city of Washington there is a place called Bladensburg. In many stories of the political and warlike events in which the city of Washington figures, Bladensburg looms large. It was there that the organized militia of the United States was met and overrun by the British troops in their advance on Washington, at the time they captured the city and burned the capitol and the White House.

Bladensburg is a historic place for other reasons. It was a great dueling ground in the old days when men were bent on settling disputes on what they called the field of honor. It was to Bladensburg that Stephen Decatur went in the gray of the morning one hundred years ago to meet in personal pistol combat Commodore Barron of the United States navy. On the field of Bladensburg the great sailor, Stephen Decatur, fell mortally wounded by a bullet from his adversary's weapon. The Decatur house, built and occupied by the sailor, still stands in the city of Washington.

Out Seventh street way and well within the city are the remains of Fort Stevens. When the Confederate general, Early, threatened the city from the northeast, troops were hurriedly brought to the city and Fort Stevens was manned. After a smart skirmish the Confederates retreated. Abraham Lincoln, then president of the United States, went out to Fort Stevens to witness the fight. He stood exposed for some time to the Confederate fire. Fort Stevens and its historic interest seem nearly forgotten today, except by the men and women who come here from a distance to see Washington.

Where Braddock Landed.

Probably not many persons in Washington, lawmakers, office holders or residents, know that General Braddock landed his forces from barges on the Potomac at a point well within the present limits of the city, and from there marched on the unfortunate campaign into western Pennsylvania, accompanied by the young surveyor soldier, George Washington. The place where Braddock landed is known as Braddock's Rock, and its location is well defined on the maps and in the histories.

Arlington, the home of the Custises and later of Robert E. Lee, is now a great national cemetery. Arlington, to be sure, is in Virginia, but it is within ten minutes' ride of the city of Washington. The view down the Potomac from Washington is unsurpassed for beauty. Thousands upon thousands of the nation's dead lie buried under the great trees. The old colonial mansion of the Custises and the Lees still stands. In it Robert E. Lee was married to Miss Custis, and it was there, in later years, that he decided to cast his lot with the Confederacy. Arlington is more or less neglected by the temporary and permanent residents of the city of Washington, but the visitors from a distance go to the beautiful place in thousands at all seasons.

NO SOFT COAL PRICE COMBINE, SAYS WITNESS

J. D. A. Morrow Tells Senate Committee Such a Combination Would be Impossible.

PRICES AT MINES LOWER THAN LAST YEAR

Better Grades of Coal Have Advanced, But Lower Grades Declined, Making Average of All Grades Less.

Washington (Special).—A combination among bituminous coal operators to maintain or fix prices does not exist, and would be impossible if attempted, J. D. A. Morrow, vice president of the National Coal Association, told the Senate subcommittee in its first day's inquiry here into the coal situation. Prices at the mine, Mr. Morrow added, have declined under the competition which prevails, and are lower now than they were a year ago.

"There are about 5,000 separate commercial producers operating approximately 7,000 mines, from which bituminous coal is regularly shipped," Mr. Morrow said. "In addition there are some 2,000 operators with about 3,000 mines, who begin producing and selling coal whenever the price goes up a little and offers a profit to them. Thus in 1917, coal production was reported to the United States Geological survey from 10,434 mines. Moreover, there are hundreds of thousands of acres of coal lands along railroads on which new mines can be readily and quickly opened by any one so disposed."

"Such a condition obviously does not lend itself to restrictive combinations among producers. In addition the operators of each mining field are subject to competition from the producers of other fields, so that buyers have many different sources of supply available to them.

"Denies Combination Exists.

"Any one who alleges that there is a nation wide combination among bituminous coal producers when these are the conditions of bituminous coal production and distribution, merely advertises his own ignorance or convicts himself of deliberate and vicious misstatements."

"Of the 5,000 separate bituminous coal producers in the United States, 2,294, approximately 45 per cent, hold membership in the National Coal Association. They produce about 60 per cent of the total output of bituminous coal in the country."

"Charges that the National Coal Association is a combination to maintain prices are without foundation in fact; they doubtless proceed simply from ignorance of its purposes and activities. The National Coal Association neither buys nor sells coal; neither does it have anything whatever to do with the prices which its members ask or sell at, nor with the territory into which they ship their coal, nor the quantity which they produce."

"Says Prices Have Declined.

Mr. Morrow stated that bituminous coal prices have declined since the armistice, and in general are lower than the prices fixed by the United States Fuel Administration. He submitted charts to the committee graphically showing the prices at which bituminous coal sold at the mines in different districts of the United States from April 1 to August 1, 1919. In connection with these charts Mr. Morrow explained that when the price restrictions of the Fuel Administration were removed on February 1 last, the better, more desirable coals went to a premium in the open competitive market and the less desirable coals declined in price.

This was the action to be expected, he said, in a market where the buyer exercises his choice and can obtain the kind he prefers. As a result, instead of the uniform prices in different districts, which were fixed by the United States Fuel Administration, prices promptly spread out, some coals going higher and some lower than they had been.

"Declares Production Cost Higher.

"Saying," Mr. Morrow said, "the cost of producing bituminous coal is higher now than it was a year ago, due to the fact that the mines then were operating six days a week and in many cases now are operating only four days per week, and in some cases only three days per week. The overhead expense of maintaining mines goes on just the same whether coal is produced or not. These idle day expenses have resulted in increased costs per ton, as compared with last year. When these increased costs are considered in connection with the general decrease in prices, it is clear that profits of bituminous coal operators are materially less than a year ago."

"Referring to statements by Representative Huddleston of Alabama, Director General Hines of the Railroad Administration and others, to the effect that bituminous coal prices at the mines are unduly high, Mr. Morrow said:

"I wish to deny publicly and emphatically these allegations that bituminous coal prices are being maintained in some improper manner and are unduly high. I am convinced that these statements proceed simply from a lack of understanding of the facts."

Mr. Morrow drew comparisons between the prices of bituminous coal at the mines in the United States and foreign countries.

"Prices at the mines in Great Britain," he said, "are about three times the mine prices prevalent in the United States. In France the mine prices are more than three and a half times those of the United States. English mine prices range from $6.95 to $7.14 per ton, while bituminous coal in France is costing about $8.75 per ton at the mines. The average mine price of bituminous coal sold in the United States is in the neighborhood of $2.49 per ton."

REMAINS OF ROMAN SMELTER

Intensely Interesting Discovery Said to Have Been Made in the North of England.

A lady member of the Cumberland and Westmoreland Antiquarian society of England has had the good fortune to discover what is believed to be a Roman bloomery, or ancient smelting furnace. Her attention was drawn to the place by the work of moles, which recently exposed some of the remains, and again later by the burning of the whins formerly concealing the hearth and other features of the bloomery, near Forest How.

By some exploration with a spade, she traced the foundations of a large hearth, twelve yards in diameter, and a number of heaps of cinders, slag and ore; and she also turned up specimens of Roman tiles, with pottery, slag and hematite. The size of the hearth of the Forest How bloomery marks it as quite different from the ordinary north-country medieval iron furnaces, which run from seven to nine or ten feet in diameter, for the one just found is twelve yards across. This appears to be worth further exploration and probably money for that purpose will be found.

Hedn't Seemed to Work.

An oldish man in rusty-brown clothes and with a rusty-brown beard met up with a pin. It was shining sharply bright on a flagging, and he stopped to pick it up.

He had stiff joints and his fingers were in that state informally known as bungly. So he had trouble picking up the pin.

A young man paused to offer his services, but the old one refused. He just grunted and grumbled until at last victory came his way. Then he straightened up his rickety joints and put a hand on his back.

"I'm not as young as I used to be," he admitted, as genially as his joints would allow. "But you know the old saying:

"See a pin and let it lay, you'll have bad luck all the day. See a pin and pick it up and you are sure to have good luck."

"So I never pass one by."

And yet he didn't look as lucky as a man ought to be who had made a life habit of picking up pins.—Washington Star.

Such conditions you can readily overcome, and prolong life by taking the advice of Dr. Pierce, which is "keep the kidneys in good order."

FIND STEAMER LONG BURIED

Dredging Operations in the Mersey Disclose Remains of Vessel That Had Been Forgotten.

For some time past the Mersey docks and harbor board has been conducting dredging operations in the neighborhood of the Barbo bank, one of the huge accumulations of sand which impede the navigation of the Mersey entrance, and these have resulted in a "find" of remarkable interest.

It is the remains of a steamer which have evidently been embedded for generations. Her date is long anterior to that of iron shipbuilding. Of sound English oak were her timbers and framing, to which circumstances doubtless is due the fact that they still retain cohesion and shape, and have so wonderfully resisted the forces of decay as to supply an abundant quantity of material for the souvenir manufacturer. Her beams, in point of fact, are described as being as "hard as iron."

The machinery has practically perished, but the engine bed-plates and the funnel remain, and relics of pottery and other articles are plentiful. The vessel, cleared of superabundant sand, is not only visible, but accessible at low water, and has been visited and examined by many interested people.

The prevailing opinion is that she is the William Huskisson, a paddle steamer belonging to the City of Dublin company, and trading between Liverpool and the Irish capital, which on the 12th of January, 1840, was wrecked on her passage to the Mersey. She had 129 passengers on board, of whom 95 were rescued by the ship Huddersfield, and the remainder perished. Captain Clegg of the Huddersfield subsequently received handsome presentations from the citizens of Liverpool in recognition of his good work.—Manchester Guardian.

HOW MUCH DO YOU SHOW YOUR AGE?

A new form of Natural Iron enriches the blood—smooths out wrinkles—strengthens the nerves—wards off old age.

When you begin to show and feel your age, it is because your blood is thin and weak—it no longer carries life and strength to different parts of the body.

The man or woman with warm, rich red blood retains the appearance and feelings of youth, in spite of the creeping years. To ward off the feebleness and appearance of old age is simply a matter of filling the blood pure and rich and kept with life and vigor.

Iron is the greatest and surest blood maker, but heretofore the difficulty has been to procure it in a form which the human system would absorb in sufficient quantities to bring satisfactory results. Pills and tonics said to contain iron have usually brought on "disappointments."

But now there is a long-ran any doubt or question, for successful and reliable method of getting iron into the blood is assured by the use of a natural form of soluble iron known as Acid Iron Mineral. There are thousands of cases on record that prove this natural iron is a powerful blood and nerve builder.

For want of iron in the blood, you may be old at thirty, or you are more readily subject to the attack of disease without warning, or you will find yourself growing feeblery day by day.

If you want to feel the elasticity of youth in your veins, and avoid all the complications and disappointments of increasing age, you will start taking Acid Iron Mineral at once. It contains no alcohol or injurious drugs, and it will not blacken the teeth like most preparations of iron.

Druggists will refund the purchase price cheerfully, if you fail to receive the improvement you seek.

CHAMBER COMMERCE CLUB DINNER PLANNED

Fall and Winter Activities to be Resumed in September With Rousing Get-Together Meeting

FARM BUREAU IS INVITED

Joint Meetings With Little Falls and Bemidji Clubs Now Under Consideration

The fall and early winter activities of the Chamber of Commerce will be resumed in September and the secretary is planning upon a rousing get-together meeting, with a club dinner, speaker from out of the city and other features. It is probable that the Chamber will invite the Farm Bureau to meet with its members at this meeting, as County Agent Roth and Secretary Lincoln have been working together this summer on matters of vital importance to the development of this section of Northern Minnesota and an interesting report by Mr. Roth will be one of the features.

Invite Other Clubs.

The secretary has suggested that a plan be adopted during the winter whereby commercial clubs of this locality can be brought into closer touch by holding joint meetings, that is to say, clubs of nearby towns be the guests of Brainerd and we in turn pay them a neighborly visit. One of the first clubs to be invited here will be that of Little Falls and Bemidji will also be asked to visit the "town in the heart of the state" and bump elbows with the community boosters of this city.

Work Ahead.

The program ahead of Mr. Lincoln looks like a pretty busy one. The Northern Division, Mississippi River Scenic Highway of which he is secretary, will hold a meeting in St. Paul on Sept. 3rd and the week following, the executive committee of the Northern Minnesota Development association will meet in Duluth to plan for the fall convention of that organization.

The commercial club secretaries of the Ninth Federal Reserve district, embracing five states, will meet in St. Paul the second week in October to organize. Lincoln is chairman of the committee on organization and is also president of the State League of Community clubs.

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Brainerd Chapter, American Red Cross will be held the last of October and the annual financial report is now being prepared for consideration of the Northern Division bureau of accounting. A representative of the division recently called in Brainerd, went over the accounts and system of bookkeeping and complimented the manner in which the financial end of the work here is being conducted.

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Northern Minnesota Development association, with the big potato show as a feature, is scheduled for Duluth on Nov. 12-13 and this will require much hard work and attention to details.

The resumption of the regular meetings of the chamber and the attention to routine work of the office and of the Red Cross, handled at the Chamber rooms under the direction of the secretary, will serve to round out a pretty full book of community work and responsibilities. The co-operation of Chamber members and organizations naturally expected to assume their part of community work is expected on the part of those who are now looking ahead to a period of endeavor for the good of

Northern Minnesota Development Association Cass Lake Pageant to be Exhibited There

The moving picture film taken at the Cass Lake summer convention of the Northern Minnesota Development Association, will be shown at the Minnesota State Fair the coming week, arrangements having been made by F. T. Lincoln, the author, and the film shipped.

The picture has also been booked for western towns and will be placed in the eastern circuit of the movies this winter. It is felt that desirable publicity will be obtained through this medium and that eventually many will become interested in a section of the country showing such remarkable development from the primitive to the par excellence of modern resident districts of the United States.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS IS CHINA'S HOPE

Senator McCumber Explains Why He Voted Against Amending Treaty.

HAS FAITH IN JAPAN'S WORD

Agrees With President Wilson That China Will Get Square Deal Under Treaty.

Washington, Aug. 27—Senator McCumber, Republican, of North Dakota, in response to an inquiry as to his reasons for voting in the senate committee on foreign relations against the motion of Senator Lodge to strike out Japan and substitute China in the articles awarding Shantung to Japan, in a statement which tonight he authorized the Washington bureau of the league to enforce peace to make public, said:

"I voted against what is known as 'The Shantung Amendment' because under the covenant and treaty as it stands, all the nations of the world in joining it agree no longer to rob China and for this and other reasons as good I believe in the early ratification of the instrument unchanged, because it substitutes justice for war in settling international wrongs of which China has suffered many.

To Be Settled by Treaty. "First, Japan has not yet a title to the territory. She holds it as a part of the results of the war until its disposition is decided by this treaty.

"Second, Japan has promised publicly in her treaty with China to surrender the leasehold right over this territory which Germany held under its treaty with China, not at some indefinite future time, not a thousand years hence, but as soon as Japan has acquired these rights under the pending treaty.

"Third, Japan renewed this promise at Paris through its mission and has repeated the promise to the President of the United States, who has every reason to believe that Japan will scrupulously keep her pledged word. I agree absolutely in this belief and the faith of the President in the sincerity of Japan.

League Is Final Resort. "Fourth, if Japan should fail to keep the treaty with China, then under the preamble of the league, which provides that all joining it shall maintain 'a scrupulous respect for all treaty obligations,' China can go before the council of the league and all the nations of the world will unite to force Japan to surrender the territory in question to China.

"Fifth, if this treaty be amended as proposed in the matter of Shantung, Japan is deprived of the privilege of giving to China, as the fruits of her victory, the victorious possession of the rights held by Germany. By this course a proud and high-spirited people would be affronted and in the public opinion of Japan opposition would be aroused to this act of justice by

SPORTS

STILLWATER TEAM IS VERY FAST ONE

All Star Lineup Representing Interstate Champions. Who Play Brainerd Aug 31, Sept. 1

2ND AND 3RD GAMES BRAINERD

Crowd of Thousands or More Expected from Points Within 30 Miles of Brainerd

The crack Stillwater team, winners of the first game of the championship baseball series between the Prison City and Brainerd, winners of the Central Minnesota pennant is considered one of the best clubs ever organized in the state among independent circles.

The team is evenly balanced in every department, has a very excellent catcher in Berger, former league player, a strong infield composed of Schroeder, Duke Wellman on second, also a former leaguer; "Bee" Lawler, one of the best ball players turned out of Minnesota University, on short, and Fred Wines, Minneapolis independent star, considered the best third-baseman in that city, who holds down that corner for Stillwater.

In the outfield they are especially well fortified for a championship series. In Klien, Dixon, Lindahl and Teckler, they have four star fielders who can surely hit the ball, and in the box they have a great pitcher in Irie Morse, spit ball king of independent pitchers. Morse is a great ball player, having played league ball for years, although still a young man, and is now a practicing lawyer of Minneapolis, who turns down big contracts every month.

The entire team is a hard one to beat and Brainerd fans will be out en masse to help root the home team to a victory, both Sunday and Monday. The Brainerd management are surely outdoing themselves in putting on a team strong enough to contest the championship of the state with a team such as Stillwater has, and the advertising given Brainerd by their 1919 baseball club, and the publicity derived therefrom, could not be secured for many times the amount being spent through any other means.

This Stillwater-Brainerd series is the talk of the hour throughout the entire state and much valuable space is being awarded to this series by the leading papers. The second game of the series, to be played here Sunday, will be the big game of the season so come early and make sure of securing a seat for yourself and ladies. The grandstand at Koering held seats 450 people, and the attendance, under favorable weather conditions, will run well over 1000, and the agreement under which the local management arranged for the championship series, calls for tickets to be sold at 50c each, good for any seat in the park, and this means, come early for the choice seats.

UMPIRE QUIGLEY IS PRAISED

Applauded by Fans for Making Some Sensational Stops of Liners on Foul Territory.

"Who is the best fielding umpire in the National league?" is the question which is often asked, and it might be said that this honor undoubtedly should go to Ernest Quigley. As a general rule the average umpire is prone to dodge hard-hit fouls which come his way, but Quigley is not of this type. In several games this season at New York, Cincinnati and Chicago Quigley has made some great stops of liners on foul territory and been applauded by the fans.

DIAMOND NOTES

Felsch has few superiors throwing home.

McCabe, utility Cub, weighs 180 pounds and is in fine shape.

Dave Robertson is considered one of the best outfielders in the National league.

Sam Larocque, once a big league infielder, is now an umpire in the Virginia league.

Fabe Adams is still raising the dence, although he was starring ten years ago.

The St. Louis Browns have turned Ernest Fallentine over to Peoria for use in an emergency.

The batting of Austin McHenry has been a big feature in the play of the St. Louis Cardinals.

It is no fair blaming it on the umpire when the visiting team knocks the ball out of the lot.

Dan Costello, outfielder, once with the Pittsburgh Pirates, is playing the outfield for Binghamton.

The veteran Harry Hinchman quit the Waterbury team, declaring that his arm was too lame for service.

Outfielder Joe Horan quit the Evansville team announcing that he was going to Kansas to play independent ball.

Gus Bono, failing with Dallas and then with Waco, seems to have found himself as a member of the Shreveport pitching staff.

If Bill Clymer does not get that money for which he has sued, the Louisville club never will hear the last of it from him.

They are all sounding the praises of the Red's pitching staff. It's singular the same staff, outside of Sallee, was mediocre last year.

Big John Watson, the pitcher who had a brief experience as a member of Connie Mack's Athletics, has drifted back to New Haven.

It is now pretty generally conceded the White Sox have three pitchers instead of two. Dick Kerr, midget though he is, has at last gained recognition.

It Will Pay You to Advertise in the Dispatch

North East West South

Supposing that, beginning tomorrow, all the newspapers are discontinued. What a furore the public would make. "News! News! We must have news or we will be no better off than the ancients." "All right, suppose we give them news but cut out the advertisement."

Then we would discover that politics, the doings of society, notices of fires, accidents, deaths, scandals, sports, the activities of the police and criminals add little or nothing to the real comfort and happiness of this greatest age in the world's history.

What geni are they that have crowded the last fifty years with so much of advantage of human? They are legion in number, but not least among them is Advertising.

Our day is the greatest time the world has seen because we have more to be happy with, better things, greater variety greater comforts gathered together from the North, East, West and South for our choosing and selection. Look about you. This is the day of better food, better homes, better clothing, better babies, better health, better business. And advertising is the instrument that makes these better things possible.

Advertising is the NEWS of all the looms, of all the furnaces, of all the laboratories, of all the shops, of all the stores, of all the world and all working for you.

Because of advertising, luxuries and necessities that once cost a king's ransom are yours at little prices. Advertising pits merchant against merchant, artisan against artisan, producer against producer, for your benefit, forcing out the best there is in everything and telling the world about it.

Read advertising. Keep abreast of today. Advertising furnishes you with facts and opportunities that you would otherwise never know.

TAI SHAN A SACRED PLACE

Chinese Mountain Said to Be the Oldest Permanent Place of Worship on Earth.

There are five sacred mountains in China, and the most sacred of all is Tai Shan, the Great mountain, said to be the oldest permanent place of worship in the world. In 2000 B. C. Tai Shan's crest had been a regular scene of sacrifices and prayers for nobody knew how long. Emperors and lesser officials, even Confucius the Wise, journeyed up the long, narrow trail of Tai Shan to come near to the God of Heaven and Earth and made their prayers before Him.

Since those days of simple worship, many temples and shrines have been built on Tai Shan's slopes. Buddhism, Taoism, Confucianism, all are represented, and there are temples, too, to the Lady of the Mountain, who is called by some a fairy, by others a goddess, and by others the spirit or soul of the mountain. Whatever her character, the lady is well represented on her mountain top and her shrines are popular.

The journey up the mountainside is accomplished by the traveler partly in a swinging chair supported by Chinese bearers and partly on foot. The "Way" consists of a granite walk, interrupted every little while by flights of steps which stretch on and on and become steeper and closer together until the pilgrim has mounted 6,000 steps and the peak of Tai Shan is reached.

Here there are more temples and thick incense and grave old priests who announce a pilgrim's presence to the gods by ringing deep-toned bells. A little way off is pointed out a rock overhanging a sheer precipice. From this rock, called "The Rock of the Love of Life," persons who had sick relatives used to fling themselves, hoping that the sacrifice of one life would appease the gods so that the other would be spared. Now the dangerous cliff is barred, and pilgrims are forced to appeal to the gods in the conventional Chinese methods.

HAIR THE GEORGETTE GOWN

Always More Popular Than Any of the Sheer Lingerie Materials and Launderers Easily.

A gown or blouse made of white or light-colored georgette, particularly if it is a one-fabric affair, will usually be found more serviceable than a similar garment made of one of the sheer lingerie materials, such as organdie, cotton voile, etc. The georgette garment can be washed with soap and water, but it does not require the vigorous treatment that a cotton fabric needs to make it look fresh and new, and certainly the amateur laundress can handle the georgette more easily than one of the cotton fabrics.

Tulle and tier effects are being featured in the styles now appearing for fall and winter. These will vie for honors with the redingote and barrel silhouette frocks, but fortunately there need be no real rivalry, as the redingote dress especially is distinctly a style that belongs to daytime apparel.
